Tech Ridge Hosts Container Park Open House: Showcasing Collaboration, Innovation, and Opportunity

St. George, Utah – Tech Ridge is proud to announce the grand opening of its highly anticipated Container Park, a vibrant and dynamic space designed to foster collaboration among multiple companies. The Open House will be held on Oct 25, 2024, inviting the community to explore the innovative workspaces and meet the exciting tech businesses that call Tech Ridge home.

The Container Park is more than just a collection of office spaces—it represents the future of St. George's growing tech community. Among the companies settling into this unique environment are Zonos, a global leader in cross-border technology solutions, and Busybusy by Align Technologies, a cutting-edge provider of time tracking and workforce management tools. These businesses, along with others, are bringing new opportunities for growth and innovation to Tech Ridge and beyond.

Isaac Barlow, Managing Partner of Tech Ridge, shared his vision for the Container Park and its role in the long-term success of the community.

"The real value behind Tech Ridge is having companies come together, learning from each other, and building together. This isn't just about individual success, but about retaining our local top talent and helping to facilitate the creation of high-wage jobs. The collaboration we're fostering here will propel the growth of both Tech Ridge and the larger St. George community," said Barlow.

The Open House will offer attendees the chance to tour the unique container offices and meet the businesses that are leading the charge in driving innovation and economic growth in the region. Guests will also get a sneak peek at the future developments planned for Tech Ridge, which is rapidly becoming a hub for technology and entrepreneurship. Tours begin at 2 PM, program at 3 PM, and then the Second Annual Tech Ridge Cornhole Tournament at 4 PM.

Tech Ridge continues to shape the future of Southern Utah, establishing itself as a space where innovative ideas and businesses can thrive. The addition of the Container Park marks another milestone in the journey to create a thriving ecosystem that supports the growth of high-tech companies and local talent.

The event is free and open to the public. All are invited to join and see firsthand how Tech Ridge is creating a collaborative, innovative future for St. George.
